The compensation is competitive. The experience is elite.

Providing a better PT experience starts by creating a better work environment for therapists. That's why, beyond the competitive pay, we offer a workplace culture designed to bring out the best in our team members. Come to work every day with confidence, knowing you'll have adequate time to devote to each patient in your care, and access to a team of fellow therapists who can help you resolve challenges and manage your workload. You'll have control over your own schedule and, thanks to MOR's 18 clinics around Chicagoland, be able to choose a home location that's convenient for you.

Work hand in hand with MOR's world-renowned physicians.

As a full-service orthopedic practice utilizing the same EMR system across teams, MOR proudly enables therapists to communicate directly with physicians. You'll be in constant dialogue with physician teams who can answer questions and relay critical new information, helping you to maximize your time and keep patients on schedule.

This unique level of communication makes every patient's rehab a true team effort. You'll play an important role in determining your patients' treatment plans, collaborating with physicians in real time to achieve superior outcomes. When everyone is on the same page, the continuity of care is exceptional.

Become an integral part of the #1 orthopedic practice in Illinois.

MOR is committed to providing opportunities for all team members to deepen their understanding of orthopedics and advance their careers. In addition to generous Continuing Education benefits and mentorship opportunities, therapists can take part in collaborative in-services, journal clubs, and lecture series with physicians. Therapists are frequently involved in various research initiatives alongside physician teams, such as a recent Blood Flow Restriction (BFR) study of the hip and knee.

Working together closely allows PTs to better understand the physician's perspective, while affording physicians valuable insight into the therapist's viewpoint. The result is mutual respect and trust and successful working relationships between physician teams and therapists.
